Your job

- Within 18 months, you will become well acquainted with the various tasks of the finance department of a leading, globally active industrial company. This includes mainly the controlling departments. Beyond that you will get an insight into our Accounting, Pricing, Treasury and Investor Relations departments.
- You will support the respective teams in their day-to-day operations and will be actively involved and responsible for cross-divisional projects.
- You will gain insights into the key figures relevant to corporate management, prepare analysis and assist in the preparation of decision-relevant documents for the management.
- You will work on the further development of the operative core processes of the respective departments and thereby gain comprehensive insights into the cross-functional cooperation of the divisions.
- During your stay at one of our subsidiaries, you will become acquainted with the global financial processes while making important contacts and expanding your company-wide network.

Your profile

- You have a degree in economics with a focus in finance & controlling or equivalent.
- Strong interest and affinity in finance, digital tools and technologies - initial experience in these fields through internships would be a great asset.
- Numbers are your great passion. You have strong analytical skills and you quickly recognize correlations. You are ready to present your own solutions convincingly.
- You have a high affinity for IT and above all very good knowledge of Excel. Experience in dealing with SAP (CO, FI, BW) is an advantage.
- Your style of work is characterized by accuracy and independence. You possess exceptional communication and organizational skills.
- You have very good English skills that allow you to work in an international environment. German language skills are an advantage.
